DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 15 and 16 have been rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. Regarding claim 15, the specification fails to disclose what the term "chasing" means. The specification also fails to disclose what is meant by the phrase "partitioned enamel technique" found in claim 16.

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claim 13 has been rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.
5. A broad range or limitation together with a narrow range or limitation that falls within the broad range or limitation (in the same claim) is considered indefinite, since the resulting claim does not clearly set forth the metes and bounds of the patent protection desired. See MPEP § 2173.05(c). Note the explanation given by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences in Ex parte Wu, 10 USPQ2d 2031, 2033 (Bd. Pat.

App. & Inter. 1989), as to where broad language is followed by "such as" and then narrow language. The Board stated that this can render a claim indefinite by raising a question or doubt as to whether the feature introduced by such language is (a) merely exemplary of the remainder of the claim, and therefore not required, or (b) a required feature of the claims. Note also, for example, the decisions of Ex parte Steigewald, 131 USPQ 74 (Bd. App. 1961); Ex parte Hall, 83 USPQ 38 (Bd. App. 1948); and Ex parte Hasche, 86 USPQ 481 (Bd. App. 1949). In the present instance, claim 13 recites the broad recitation "shaped surface", and the claim also recites "corrugated surface", which is the narrower statement of the range/limitation.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 1, 6, 8-10, 14, 17 and 18 have been rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Esposito, 5694791 in view of Mathewson, 430295.

Regarding claims 1, 14 and 17, Esposito discloses a composite set of jewelry ornaments (figures 1 and 4a) containing decorative elements in the form of settings (10) and a connector with a lock (30). The decorative elements are composed of tubular (10) elements with settings (24) with stones (26). The decorative elements also have cross through openings (see holes in the middle section of the cylindrical element (10).

Esposito fails to disclose a combination of tubular elements and tubular elements with ornamentation.

Mathewson discloses the deficiency found in Esposito. Specifically, a bracelet with a plurality of beads (A, A'), wherein a certain number of beads (A) contain an ornamentation (a) and the other beads (A') do not contain the additional ornamentation. The combination of beads with ornamentation and just plane beads is for aesthetic purposes only. Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art to provide Esposito with a combination of beads with ornaments and without ornaments in order to change and improve the aesthetical beauty of the jewelry item.

Regarding claims 6 and 8, Mathewson discloses dome-shaped beads (A, A').

Regarding claims 9 and 10, Esposito discloses tubular elements with a polished outer surface (inherently disclosed).

Regarding claim 18, Esposito discloses a connector (30) in the form of a chain, i.e., a link in a chain.

8. Claims 11 and 12 have been rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Esposito in view of Mathewson, as applied above, and further in view of Ballou, 263095.

Esposito fails to disclose using a mat finish on the tubular elements or a combination of a mat finish on some of the elements and a polished finish on the other elements. Ballou discloses providing a variety of finishes (including a "mat" finish, cross hatched finish) on alternating tubular elements of a decorative chain to vary and improve the aesthetical appearance of the chain. Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art to provide Esposito with alternating mat and polished finishes on the tubular elements in order to improve the beauty of the jewelry item.

Allowable Subject Matter

9. Claims 2-5, 7 objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
